

A recognized expert in Dairy Processing dedicated to your success

Wright Process Systems' engineers have been designing, installing, and optimizing dairy process systems for over 25 years. We pride ourselves on exceeding 3A, PMO and USDA requirements from design to installation, including ever-changing food safety regulatory guidelines. Our success in the dairy industry has led to landmark projects such as a 1,000 gallon-per-minute 24/7 PMO tanker unloading system, a 24/7 PMO low-spore evaporator front end retrofit with zero-loss separator desludges, and more.

Adaptable solutions built to your exact specifications

Modern dairy needs demand flexibility, be it for varying product types, run volumes, allergen segregation, or other needs. Wright Process understands how small decisions around equipment selection and control schemes can help manufacturers achieve greater flexibility, and encourages these discussions early in the design stage.
